

Must-See Art Guide: Los Angeles

Let's see what's happening in West Coast art this week. Los Angeles was recently crowned as the artist capital of the world—boasting more working artists than even New York!—and it has the gallery scene to match. From your heavy-hitter white cube venues to grungy underground artist-run spaces, the city has it all. It just might take a lot of driving and battling some congested traffic to see it all.

Liza Ryan, Milk Blue (2017). Courtesy of Kayne Griffin Corcoran.

Exhibition: "Liza Ryan: Antarctica"

When: January 20–March 17, 2018

Where: Kayne Griffin Corcoran, 1201 S. La Brea Avenue, Los Angeles, CA